

Call to Worship – Second Sunday of Advent, Cycle A
Patricia Torre, DW Pastoral Associate – Sacred Heart Church, Southbury, CT

Today is the second Sunday of Advent. We continue our Advent journey into a time of quiet waiting as we prepare our hearts to receive anew, the Christ, the One who is the prince of Justice, bearer of Faithfulness. Today the prophet Isaiah offers us the vision of God who desires peace and harmony for us in all our relationships, among all cultures and all nations. During this advent season, we offer this call to worship as a time of quiet reflection.

~~ MUSIC ~~

Let us take a moment to enter the silence, allowing the music to quiet our minds, our heart, our spirit....closing your eyes if you are comfortable.... becoming more and more aware of God's presence in you....around you...noticing the quiet around you, in you...feeling the peace that is present in God's presence...even as your life contains places where you feel unrest or separation.... Know God's peace in those places...Hear God's invitation to be peace in your thoughts....your words....your actions....Embrace God's vision for us to live in peace...in harmony Ask God to show you the way.... Listen quietly, deeply in the silence.....

May this Advent be a time of our becoming – individually and as a community of faith - the peace and harmony of Emmanuel – God-with-us...
